MEDIA INFORMATION

All press requests should be addressed to Bill Buchannon, Royals Director of Public Relations. Press row is located courtside adjacent to team benches. Seating in this area is limited to writers actually doing a game story and to visiting radio stations. Home radio is on the second floor. Visiting radio and television media not broadcasting also sit in this area.

Visiting radio and television stations must notify the Royals public relations office of their intent to broadcast or telecast. Television broadcasting space is available on the balcony level facing the benches.

The Royals public relations office will issue credentials to media personnel for admission to the Cincinnati Gardens, press row, and locker rooms. Photographers also need a special pass for courtside positions.

MAX W. JACOBS

Chairman of the Board

UBIQUITOUS, adj.—characterized by ubiquity; being everywhere at the same time; omnipresent.

That's Webster's definition. One day a new dictionary editor will add: "See Max Jacobs." The word fits the Royals' young Chairman of the Board exactly. Still only 34, Jacobs has been chairman of the board and treasurer of the Royals since December, 1968.

Born in Buffalo, N. Y., he attended Mt. St. Joseph Primary School, St. Thomas Military Academy in St. Paul, Minn. (where he met future wife Helen), and graduated with highest honors from the University of Arizona. A Drama major, he received the department's outstanding theatrical performance award.

He is a leading cheerleader for Cincinnati. His love affair with the Queen City started as a youngster when his father—Sportservice president L. M. Jacobs—arranged for his friends Bill DeWitt and Gabe Paul of the Reds to take young Max on a road trip with the big club.

Later he starred in a lengthy run at the famous Playhouse in the Park in Cincinnati. Although he and brother Jeremy now operate one of the most farflung concession organizations in the world, Max inevitably spends more time in his adopted city than anywhere else.

Following a five-year active career in the theater, in 1965 he returned to Sportservice and has specialized in the operation of such diverse entities as race tracks, subway vending machines, bowling centers, World's Fair and ball park concessions, parking lots, airline concessions and many more.

Max has two goals in Cincinnati: Make the Royals a winner, and make the Cincinnati Gardens "the place to go" to watch entertainment of all kinds.

JOE AXELSON

Vice President and General Manager

JOE AXELSON, executive vice-president and general manager, knows the value of teamwork; he has been a member of an athletic team for most of his adult life. Best known nationally for his work as assistant executive secretary to the NAIA in Kansas City, Joe knows more coaches, athletes, and fans than anyone. This knowledge has helped him tremendously in his task of guiding the Cincinnati Royals toward their championship aspirations.

Beginning his third year as ramrod of the Royals, Axelson has made enviable progress in the total revamping program he instituted. Cincinnati Gardens, under his leadership, has been completely "reoutfitted" to satisfy the demanding pro fans. The ball club is showing the results of the rebuilding program described elsewhere in this book.

Axelson brought in his own team to do the job. Elise Childers, Larry Staverman, and Bill Buchannon were imported because they were familiar with his unique, detailed way of doing things. The result has been a team effort with the Royals organization functioning smoothly and progressively toward its goals.

Joe is not only the general manager of the Royals; he is a fan. Being one, his announced goal—a world championship flag for the Queen City.

ROYALS ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF

LARRY STAVERMAN, assistant general manager and promotions director, begins his third year of creating joy and happiness at Royal home games. Special nights, free prizes such as NBA basketball shoes or basketballs, and splendid half-time entertainment are the result of Larry's efforts.

Larry knows basketball, having starred at Thomas More (then Villa Madonna) before embarking on an impressive pro career with Chicago, Detroit, Baltimore and Cincinnati. He was an all-ABL forward for Kansas City in 1962.

After spending two years as assistant coach at Notre Dame and one and a half years as coach of the Indiana Pacers of the ABA, Larry was lured by old friend Joe Axelson to join the Royals' front office team. In addition to providing plenty of pep and fun for the fans, Larry doubles as scout when the need arises.

BILL BUCHANNON, director of public relations, is the Royals' ambassador to the media and public. An excellent speaker, Bill represents the Royals at various types of events such as banquets, luncheons, etc. as well as handling the publicity of the team.

He was brought to the Royals by Joe Axelson after a distinguished career in radio, television, journalism and college administration.

ELISE CHILDERS, business manager, is a veteran pro beginning her third year with the Royals. She joined the Cincinnati crew after six years as office manager and comptroller of the N.A.I.A. and two years with the K. C. Steers where she gained invaluable insight into every commercial avenue of sports management.

Elise makes the complicated payrolls, air-plane and hotel schedules, and other business affairs of the Royals look easy as she routinely applies a pleasant and knowledgeable disposition to her work.

An avid fan, Elise knows the workings of the NBA as well as anyone in the league. She came to Cincinnati from Kansas City when co-worker Joe Axelson accepted the Royals general managership.

DOM VALENTINO begins his third year as the "Voice of the Royals" on both radio and television. A fifteen year veteran on the mike, Dom has handled the play-by-play of practically every professional sport including baseball, hockey, football and basketball and even has called the races at some of New England's major tracks.

After graduating from Boston University and spending three years as an Air Force pilot, Dom began his career in Longview, Texas. His broadcasts on WLW probably have the largest regular audience in professional sports as he is heard from Canada all the way to the Gulf of Mexico.

BOB COUSY

Coach of the Running Royals

Bob Cousy was raised on hustle, speed, and desire. His 1970-71 team reflected the feeding served by their Hall of Fame mentor as the young Royals were in the NBA playoff picture until the final two days of the season.

It was an unselfish ball club which played speedball intermixed with a go-go-go type of teamwork, a Cousy trademark since his entry into the league back in 1950. As a player his talents has made him a Holy Cross All American two years, an NBA All-Star 13 (MVP in the game in '54 and '57), the Most Valuable Player in the NBA in 1957, and the quarterback of a Boston Celtic team which won seven world championships. He was the first opponent chosen to the Royals Hall of Fame.

There is nothing which could be written about Bob Cousy that has not already been printed somewhere. His dedication to the game has brought praise from Presidents and fans the world over and Cousy is credited for being responsible for giving the NBA a positive image in the days when it needed it most.

After a successful reign in college coaching (117 wins, 34 losses at Boston College), Bob was persuaded by Royal owner Max Jacobs to guide the Cincinnati club from scratch to a championship contender. It didn't take him long to remove the Royals from the ranks of the status quo. Leaving a few home town fans sputtering after trading some local favorites, Cousy returned such basics as ball handling, alertness, hustle, speed, plus some fight and claw defenses to what had been a lax-i-dasical approach to the game.

League writers used a lot of ink describing the second year of Cousy's rebuilding program in Cincinnati. The club was younger in age and experience than the expansion teams and after injuries to proven veterans Darrall Imhoff and Johnny Green, the youthful group was forced to gain pressure experience which should aid their efforts in '72. Fortunately, this forced feeding program has enabled Cousy to get his rebuilding program ahead of schedule.

There was not much doubt that, had the Royals made the playoffs, Cousy would have been named NBA Coach of the Year. He had produced a contending club with as many as three rookies in the lineup most of the season. This kind of performance has led experienced observers to believe the Royals might just well be the team of the '70's.

DRAFF YOUNG

Assistant Coach and Chief Scout

Two successful drafts in a row for the running Royals were no accident. The first full time assistant coach and chief scout of the Royals, Draff Young, spent over 25 days a month in the air looking over prospective talent that would fit in with the Royal rebuilding program.

Draff's travels took him to over 200 cities in 23 states and his files contain reports on nearly a thousand college players.

Before being brought to Cincinnati by head coach Bob Cousy, Draff gave clinics and lectures throughout the "East for the Randolph Manufacturing Company, the firm that makes the "Bob Cousy Basketball Shoe." Prior to that he logged an impressive high school and college basketball career and four and a half years with Marcus Haynes and the Harlem Magicians.

Born: February 25, 1944

Residence: Cincinnati, Ohio

College: St. Joseph '60

Number one draft choice by Philadelphia in '66 . . . obtained in off season trade with Chicago . . . Guokas drew praise from Cousy in preseason games as his 6'6" frame gives Royals defensive strength at guard . . . a good ball handler and a pure shooter, Guokas will log much playing time with the Royals . . . he averaged 6.6 points in 78 games with the Bulls last season with 189 assists . . . Cousy regards him as one of the smartest ball players around. .

DARRALL IMHOFF

Age: 33

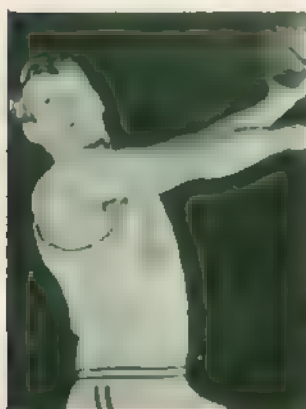

Height: 6'10"

Weight: 205

Born: October 11, 1938

Residence: Cincinnati, Ohio

College: California at Berkley '60

Injuries to Imhoff in January of '71 probably kept Royals out of playoffs . . . Imhoff hurt knee on first day of pre-season camp and missed most of exhibition season . . . Imhoff is considered key to Royals success as he is the best pick-and-roll center in the league and took pressure off second year pivot Sam Lacey . . . active in the Fellowship of Christian Athletes, Darrall is a popular player in Cincinnati . . . he was drafted number one by the Knicks in '60 . . . Darrall's intelligence makes him a natural to trigger the Royals geared up running game.

Royals 1970 first round pick received a forced feeding on 1970-71 because of injuries to veteran Darrall Imhoff . . . "Slamin Sam" responded averaging 13.5 points and pulling in 9.13 rebounds as a rookie . . . if Imhoff is available for relief, Lacey could be one of the best centers in the league . . . priding himself in blocking shots, Lacey is making positive steps toward being the type of big man the Royals have sought for years.

Royals sixth round pick . . . McGregor showed in preseason camp that he can play the physical type forward defense the Royals desperately need . . . he averaged 140 as a senior at Wake Forest, but it was his work under the boards that impressed Royal scouts . . . has a good shot and works hard . . . should be a good NBA forward with experience.

ROYALS LANCER CLUB

Season ticketholders get royal treatment in the Royals Lancer Club. They become automatic members of the group and get access to the club room, located on the second floor of the Gardens, south side. A three-sandwich and complete beverage menu is available before, during and up to an hour after the game. The room is an ideal place for a sportsman to entertain guests. Pennants of all NBA teams decorate the wall. So do Royals Hall-of-Fame plaques and the retired jerseys of Maurice Stokes (12), Oscar Robertson (14) and Jack Twyman (27). In addition to Lancer Club membership, season ticketholders get subscriptions to Basketball Weekly (18 issues), Sporting News (18 issues), and the Royal Garden Blues, as well as a pocket secretary with monthly calendars indicating dates of Royals and Gardens events.

Res.: Cincinnati, Ohio

College: Auburn '71

Royal second round pick . . . labeled "Crash" by veteran Norm Van Lier, John Mengelt brought a new kind of excitement to Royal pre-season practice . . . Mengelt holds all Auburn scoring records, his 24.8 varsity scoring average (3 years) is a record at that institution . . . led nation's free throw shooting in '71 with 81.2% . . . as a senior he shot 48.4% with a career high 60 points against Atlanta . . . he scored over 30 points 12 different times . . . because of constant movement without the ball, he should fit into the Royals fast break attack.

SID CATLETT

Age: 23

Height: 6'8"

Weight: 225

Born: April 8, 1948

Res.: Washington, D. C.

Get the picture?

With Motorola's Insta-Matic Color Tuning, one button automatically balances color hue, intensity, contrast, brightness and activates the automatic fine tuning. And it helps keep the color balanced even when scenes change or you change channels.

And as long as the little green light is on, you don't have to worry about the children misadjusting these controls.

Insta-Matic Color Tuning. It's that simple.

And it's available in a wide selection of portables, table models and consoles, from 16 to 25 inches (measured diagonally) at popular prices.

Now you know why
Insta-Matic is the finest color tuning system
you can buy.

THE ROYALS HALL OF FAME

The Cincinnati Royals Hall of Fame represents the Royal fans' choice of the best in the NBA. Jack Twyman, Maurice Stokes, and Arlen Bockhorn in the Royals section and Bob Cousy, Bob Pettit, and Bill Russell in the Opponent's section were inducted in 1969, 70, and 71.

Candidates for the Hall of Fame must have played with or against the Royals for at least one season and must have been inactive for at least five years.

The Hall of Fame is located in the Lancer Club on the second floor of Cincinnati Gardens.

THE ROYALS COURTSIDER'S CLUB

The Royals Courtsider's Club meets every other Thursday at noon at the Cincinnati Playboy Club, 35 East Seventh Street. The meetings are open to the public and fans should watch the news media for dates and information on guests.

Royal Coach Bob Cousy is at most of the sessions and he, along with members of the team, answer questions from fans and the press.

Dom Valentino, the Voice of the Royals, emcees the gatherings and awards gifts for the best questions.

SUPERIOR CHEVROLET NOW SELLS THE NEW LITTLE CAR IN TOWN. THE HONDA.

It's a great basic car with great basic features. Like 40 miles per gallon on regular gas. An air-cooled, overhead cam engine. Frontwheel drive. Front disc brakes. A four speed transmission. And a top speed of 75 miles an hour.

Every Honda and Chevrolet from Superior Chevrolet comes with a 12 month, 12,000 mile warranty, and every car from Superior is put through the safety lane for you.

Incidentally, there's only one thing more unbelievable than our new little car: It's the new little price.
